P R E F A C E.

IN preparing the Genealogy of Ralph Stoddard, it has been a great pleasure to find the family so generally interested. For it is yet true in this country, that all families have not grown into the habit of giving honor to their ancestors.

There is a nobility about our manhood that does not need to live in palaces, and wear crowns in order to be remembered. There is a very old book which says, it is more kingly to control one's own spirit, than to lead an army and conquer a city. This kind of greatness is often found in very poor dwellings, and clothed in thread-bare garments.

It is the nobility which can practise self-denial for the sake of others, can toil long and patiently to teach and cultivate right thoughts in the minds of children, and can dare to believe and act, that "a good name is better than great riches," and would choose "rather to be right than to be President." To make goodness the foundation of greatness is the aspiration of a truly noble mind, and many such there are even among those who are in the humbler walks of life. Such are among the pleasant things meeting him who wanders among old family records, and listens to well-worn family traditions, and in the circle of family names these things are dearer to him than gold.

In bringing this Genealogy to its present completeness, I should say less than I ought if I did not mention the earnest co-operation of Mr. Geo. N. Stoddard, of Buffalo, N. Y., also the efficient aid of A. S. Stoddard, and W. W. Dewey, Esq., of Lowville, N. Y., and Enoch Vine Stoddard, Esq., of New London, Ct. Mrs. Heyden, of Brooklyn, N. Y., also furnished valuable old records.

It is matter of regret that I cannot more certainly connect Ralph of 1666 with those of the same name, and with whom he was intimately associated.

I need only add that the Index will give the page of every Christian name, and the family name of those who have married into this family. The figure after any name indicates where the children of that family may be found.

Any corrections or additions to this family, if forwarded to the Author, will be of use in future gatherings of this kind, as it is his purpose to trace all of this name in their original home in England.

E. W. STODDARD.

THE STODDARD FAMILY.

FIRST GENERATION.

- (2) I. RALPH STODDARD, 3, born about 1666, in England (?). Died Dec. 17, 1753, æ. 87. Married about 1696 Mary Ames of Boston, Mass., who was born about 1664, died Feb. 3, 1728, æ. 64. The family tradition is that he was born in England. In 1695 he bought the south grant of John Gadger lands, in the north part of Groton, now known as Gales Ferry, in the town of Ledyard, Ct. Part of this purchase is now in possession, by inheritance, of Mrs. Hester Stoddard Satterlee, wife of E. A. Satterlee, Esq., and a descendant of Ralph Stoddard. In the ancient burying-ground, at Gales Ferry, Mrs. Mary Stoddard, the wife of Ralph, was the first person interred. Previous to 1836, Ledyard was part of Groton. Previous to 1705, Groton was part of New London. Previous to 1658, New London and its harbor was known as Pequot, from the original inhabitants, and included what is now several towns. It was first settled in 1646, and in 1648, contained more than forty families, among whom were Rev. Richard Blinman, from Gloucester, John Winthrop, Esq., Robert Allyn, and James Avery. With Allyn and Avery families, the Stoddard family frequently intermarries. The River Thames (which was previous to 1658 called Mohegan) separates New London and Groton. Opposite New London stood Fort Griswold, which on Sept. 6, 1781, was taken by the British under Arnold, who burned New London, and captured the Garrison of the Fort, about 150 men; of these 85 were killed, most of them after surrender, 35 were considered mortally wounded and left, and 30 were taken prisoners. Col. Wm. Ledyard commanded the Fort, and on surrender of his sword, was immediately slain.

The members and relatives of this family, shared nobly in the defense and perils of Fort Griswold. In 1836 the town of Groton was divided, and the north part called Ledyard, in honor of Col. Ledyard. In the north part of Groton, Robert Stoddard purchased the north grant of John Gailger land, now known as Stoddard's Landing. It is not known at what date, but it is supposed about 1698. In 1697, Ralph Stoddard is witness of a deed, in the purchase of land, by Thomas Stoddard, who is a brother of Robert Stoddard. Thomas afterward resided in Norwich, Ct., Robert and Ralph midway, by the river, toward New London. Being so closely associated in business and residence, and of same name and suitable ages, it is possible, Robert, Ralph, and Thomas, were brothers.

SECOND GENERATION.

A deed, executed by Mary Hurlbutt, bearing date March 15, 1786, is now in possession of Mrs. Hester Satterlee, of Gales Ferry. Said deed conveys certain lands in Groton, near "Hulbut's Ferry," to Thomas Bolles, and was witnessed before Thomas Avery, Justice of the Peace, by Thomas Avery and Ichabod Stoddard. Mary Stoddard inherited from her Father Ralph, the land now known as Gales Ferry, and vicinity, and her descendants of the Hurlbutt family, continued there to reside for several generations. John Hurlbutt was a Farmer. Residence, Groton, Ct.

I., born 1799, now living with her son, Benj. B. Myrick, Richmond, Ind. Conference Minutes speak as follows:—

REV. ISAAC STODDARD, a superannuated member of the Providence Conference, entered into the rest of heaven, May 8, 1869, at 9 P.M. He was born at Gales Ferry, Conn., Oct., 1788, and had thus completed more than fourscore years at the time of his death.

He was converted when about sixteen years of age, and, for the fourteen succeeding years, preached and held religious services in the neighborhood of his father's house. On the thirtieth anniversary of his birth, he left home to enter the itinerancy, at the time when such a life in New England meant exposure, hardship, poverty, and peril. He was received on trial in the New-England Conference, in 1819, and sent to old Needham Circuit; in 1820, to Craftsbury, Vt.; in 1821, he was ordained deacon, and in this and the following year, labored on the island of Rhode Island; in 1823, he received his second ordination, and, this year and 1824, travelled Brookfield Circuit, Mass.; in 1825, at New London, Conn.; 1826, Middleborough, Mass.; 1827-8, Warren, R. I.; 1829-30, Brookfield, Mass.; 1831-2, Pelham; 1833, Norwich, Conn.; 1834, Norwich, North; 1835, Warehouse Point; 1836-7, Webster, Mass.; 1838-9, Newport, R. I.; 1840, Nantucket, Mass. At the division of the New-England Conference, he became a member of the Providence Conference, and was stationed in 1841-42 at Fairhaven, Mass.; in 1843, at South Yarmouth, where his health, never firm, gave way; and, in the ensuing spring, he received a superannuated relation, which he has since retained. During the fifty years of his Conference connection, his record has been clear.

The Master honored him as a winner of souls. In most, if not all, of his fields of labor, his efforts were answered in precious revivals of religion, and the strengthening of the struggling church. Much of the fruit has ripened, and been safely gathered unto God. Many of the churches which were feeble in his working-day are now vigorous and largely useful. He delighted, in his last days, to tell of "the good hand of his God upon him," and of the victories of the Redeemer's blood. The twenty-five years of his superannuation were a discipline of suffering; but, amid all, he kept his faith in God. Partially blind, and afflicted with a complication of diseases, he struggled long against them, until the tabernacle, beaten and torn by the storms of eighty years, was gently taken down, and its occupant joyfully possessed the "building of God," "eternal in the heavens."

He was an earnest patriot, having marched to the national defence in the last war with Great Britain, and being anxious to declare, by vote and private influence, during our late civil strife, how ardently he longed for our national unity. He was a true Christian, evincing, during sixty-four years of religious life, a constant purpose to exalt and serve his crucified Lord. He leaves a widow in declining strength, and a daughter of his first wife, who have grace to abide in the shelter of the promises. May the prayers of the church ascend for them! and may the self-surrender, heroism, and success of the fathers be everywhere copied by their sons!

- (43) VIII. GUY C. STODDARD, 101, born, Groton, Ct., May 11, 1790. Married first, Feb. 18, 1815, Susanna Allyn, born Feb. 10, 1789. Died March 16, 1839. He married second, Feb. 10, 1840, Abigail Latham, born 1786, died May 27, 1858. Occupation, Farmer. Residence, Ledyard, Ct.
- (44) IX. BENJ. FRANKLIN STODDARD, born, Groton, Ct., Jan. 26, 1792. Died Feb. 27, 1848, Mystic, Ct. Married Nov. 27, 1817, Julia A. Miner, dau. of Dr. Jno. O. Miner, of Groton, and had no children. Benj. F. Stoddard began the study of medicine Jan., 1812, in the office of Dr. Jno. O. Miner, Groton, Ct. He graduated at New Haven Medical College in 1815. In 1816 he began the practice of medicine in Montville, Ct. In 1821, removed to Groton, and became partner in practice with Dr. Miner. In 1828, removed to Mystic, Ct. In 1845, at a post-mortem examination, he contracted disease, which, after three years of suffering, closed his life. His death was a great loss to the profession, to the church, and to society. Occupation, Physician. Residence, Groton and Mystic, Ct.

HANNAH MARIA, who died at the age of 19 years.

Col. James S. Stoddard began to learn the art of printing in his 13th year, 1797, with Col. Samuel Green, in the office of the Connecticut Gazette and Commercial Advertiser, at New London, where he continued his apprenticeship about three and a half years, when he emigrated, in 1801, with his parents to the then wilderness town of Palmyra, N. Y. Afterwards he worked a short time for Mr. Lucius Cary, in the first printing office in Canandaigua, which was also the first in what is now known as Western N. Y. In 1804, he was for a time in the employ of Maj. Samuel Colt, who had begun merchandizing in Palmyra. He was placed in charge of two Durham boats which Maj. Colt owned in Palmyra. Loading them with flour and pork, he went down Guargwa creek to Lyons, and thence to Schenectady. Among his companions were Gilbert Howell, Cooper Culver, John Phelps, and Wm. Clark. The party were one month in-going and one month in returning, having merchandise for return freight. During the later years of his life, Col. S. was largely interested in horticulture, and was very successful. He continued his occupation as printer, till it was said of him that he was the oldest member of the craft living in this country. Occupation, Printer. Residence, Palmyra, N. Y.

THE STODDARD FAMILY, UNLOCATED.

FAMILIES bearing the name STODDARD that have not yet been traced as far back as 1700, and cannot therefore be certainly located at Boston or Hingham, Mass., Wethersfield or New London, Ct. Several of the following, so far as family names would indicate, probably belong to the Boston family. Those of whom most has been learned are here named: Ebenezer Stoddard, of Woodstock, Ct., born about 1720-30. Family Tradition says he went to Woodstock from Roxbury, Mass. Phineas Stoddard, of Woodstock, Ct., 1768, was born about 1725. Joshua Stoddard, said to be born in Newton, Mass., about 1723; died in Westminster, Vt. Benjamin Stoddard, a brother of Joshua, resided in Bennington, Vt. David Stoddard, a nephew of Joshua, was born about 1740; resided in Chesterfield, N. H. Jonathan Stoddard, born about 1750; a resident of Pittsfield, Mass. Elijah Stoddard, born about 1740; was a resident of Sunderland, Mass., in 1765. From what is given the inference is very clear that either the towns named, or those near them, have in their church or town records names and dates that could still further trace these families. It is a hope long cherished that some one will yet be found who has the means, the leisure, and the inclination to search these records, and locate these now unlocated families. Who will search any of these records?

EBENEZER STODDARD, of Pomfret, Ct., married Anna, family name not known. Their birth-place is not known positively. Ebenezer died July 2, 1806; his wife Anna died June 20, 1804. The towns of Pomfret and Woodstock, Ct., were settled by planters from Roxbury, Mass., in 1686. Grant of land to these planters, 1687. Both towns were incorporated in 1713. It is evident from the birth of their children that Ebenezer and Anna were born about 1725. It is probable also that they came to Pomfret from Boston or its vicinity, as this is the statement of History concerning the Planters, and the tradition of this family in particular. It is possible they are descendants of Ebenezer, son of Anthony, of Boston, who was born 1664.

FIRST GENERATION.

Issue of Ebenezer Stoddard.

1. I. JUDITH STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Sept. 24, 1749.
2. II. AMASA STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Dec. 5, 1750; died April 22, 1807; married, Sept. 30, 1804, Lamaris Dean. Residence, Pomfret, Ct.

3. III. EBENEZER STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Sept. 10, 1751; married, Jan. 2, 1777, Alatheia Robinson. Occupation, Farmer. Residence, Pomfret, Ct.

4. IV. LOIS STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Oct. 10, 1759.

5. V. ANNA STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Jan. 9, 1763.

Pomfret Record also says—David Stoddard married, Sept. 9, 1762, Elizabeth Reed, which indicates that David may not have been a resident of that town.

SECOND GENERATION.

Issue of Ebenezer Stoddard, No. 3.

6. I. PARLEY STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct. probably, Oct. 17, 1777; died Dec. 26, 1834; married, March 19, 1801, Nancy Hicks, who was born Nov. 27, 1779, died Nov. 23, 1862, and had ten children. Occupation, Farmer. Residence, Woodstock, Ct.

7. II. POLLY STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., June 29, 1779; died Feb. 27, 1847; married, 1800, Charles Skinner, of West Woodstock, Ct. Children:

1. ALATHEA SKINNER, born Feb. 28, 1801; died Dec. 23, 1862; married Elon Converse, a farmer of Stafford, Ct., and had five children. One now living, Feb., 1873.

2. AMANDA SKINNER, born Aug. 22, 1803; died March 3, 1806.

3. CHARLES STODDARD SKINNER, born Feb. 7, 1806; married, May 3, 1832, Fanny Topliffe, of Mansfield, Ct. One child living.

4. MARY B. SKINNER, born Sept. 20, 1812; married, Jan. 13, 1833, Julius Ware, a farmer of Glastenbury, Ct. They had five children, three living.

5. CAROLINE A. SKINNER, born Jan. 18, 1815; married, Jan. 16, 1833, Zechariah N. Allen, a merchant and hotel-keeper of Ashford, Ct.

6. STEPHEN D. SKINNER, born Dec. 15, 1817; married, May 29, 1843, Abby Weaver, of West Woodstock, Ct. They have two children.

8. III. ALATHEA STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., April 14, 1781; died in Homer, N. Y.; married Peabody Sumner, and removed to Homer, N. Y., and had a number of children.

9. IV. EBENEZER STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., May 6, 1785; died 1847; married, May, 1810, Lucy Carroll, of South Woodstock, Ct. He was a member of 17th and 18th Congress, 1821-1825, and was Lieut.-Governor of Ct. in 1837. It is ordinary that the Lieut.-Governor should receive the nomination for Governor at the next election. Lieut.-Gov. Stoddard failed in this for the following reason: The year 1837 was one of great excitement in regard to banks, the Stamford, Ct., Bank, being one of those especially under the ban of his party. A committee of the senate was appointed to examine its financial condition, and reported it perfectly solvent and good. The Lieut.-Gov., as President of the State Senate, was in this case, a tie, called to give the "casting vote," which he did, approving the report of the committee, and thereby offending his party. In this instance

(and the instance is not alone in the days when honest and large-minded men were chosen to office), he chose to be right rather than to be Governor. Occupation, Lawyer. Residence, West Woodstock, Ct.

10. V. WILLARD STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Feb. 1, 1792; died in childhood, but very happily, as a few moments before death, with a cheerful smile, he pointed upward, saying, "See, see."

11. VI. OTIS STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., April 8, 1793; died in Homer, N. Y. He married Fanny Perkins, and removed to Mass., afterwards to the vicinity of Homer, N. Y. They had several children. It is possible Rev. Rufus Stoddard, who died at Homer, N. Y., after Feb. 24, 1836, was a son in this family. He began itinerant labor in M. E. church, 1832, under direction of the presiding elder, and was placed on the Mexico circuit. He was in 1834 appointed to Homer, N. Y., and at the conference in 1835, was admitted to full connection and reappointed to Homer. He was after this not able to preach, and died in a few months.

The following is all that is known of Phineas Stoddard, of Woodstock, Ct., of 1725:

PHINEAS STODDARD, born March, 1725; died, Durham, Me., June, 1810, æt. 85 years; married Betsey Allen, who died, Green, Me., Feb., 1793, and had three children. He resided in Woodstock, Ct., as early as 1768, and it is not known how much earlier, nor if he was born there. He resided there till about 1778, when he removed to South Hadley, Mass., then almost an unbroken wilderness, and remained two years. He then removed to Charlton, Mass., a few miles north from Woodstock. In 1790 removed to Green, Me. In 1798 removed to Durham, Me. At this time his sons William and Abel resided at Durham, and his daughter at Green, Me. He had three children:

I. WILLIAM STODDARD, born, Woodstock, Ct., 1752; married, date and name of wife not known, and had six sons, who all grew to manhood, and each of them, with father and grandfather, were more than six feet in height. Occupation, Farmer. Residence, Green, Me.

II. SARAH STODDARD, born, Woodstock, Ct., 1766; died in Vt.; married Elijah Carpenter. Occupation, Farmer. Residence, Green, Me., 1790 to 1820, then removed to Vt.

III. ABEL STODDARD, born, Woodstock, Ct., Sept. 12, 1768; died, Farmington, Me., June 17, 1830; married, date unknown, Mary Fellows, of North Yarmouth, Me., only daughter of Samuel Fellows, who was born Aug. 27, 1776, died May 2, 1829. He was a Farmer. Residence, Durham, Me., 1798 to 1815, then removed to Farmington, Me. They had six Children: 1. JEREMIAH; 2. SAMUEL; 3. NELSON; 4. ALMIRA; 5. MARY; 6. BEULAH. A son of Jeremiah, J. A. Stoddard, has been for some years a large publisher of books in Chicago, Ill., and the great fire of Oct. 7, 1871, completely burned him out, both as to home and business. He has a wife and six children.

The following is all that is known of Joshua Stoddard;

JOSHUA STODDARD, born about 1723, birth-place said to be Newton, Mass.; died in Westminster, Vt., 1812, æt. about 90. He had a brother, Benjamin Stoddard, living in Bennington, Vt., and a nephew, David Stoddard, living in Chesterfield, N. H. He married, about 1756, Sarah Humphry, and had eleven children,

I. LYDIA STODDARD, who was twice married, but had no children.

II. HANNAH STODDARD, born about 1759; died in Westminster, Vt.; married Levi Peck, and had three sons and two daughters, all now deceased, except Shubael Peck, of Westminster, Vt.

III. JOHN STODDARD, born, Pomfret, Ct., Nov., 1761; died in Westminster, Vt.; married, about 1787, Mary Hendrick, and had seven children, all born in Westminster, Vt.

IV. JOSHUA STODDARD, Jr., settled in Sutton, Vt., and had a large family of sons and daughters.

V. DANIEL STODDARD, had a numerous family, born in different towns of northern Vt. He afterward emigrated to Ohio.

VI. ZERUAH STODDARD, married Amasa Washburn, and had one son and four daughters.

VII. EZRA STODDARD, married, and had seven children.

VIII. EBENEZER STODDARD, married, and settled in Stanstead, Canada. He had one son.

IX. ISAAC STODDARD, married, and had two sons and two daughters.

X. AMASA STODDARD, married, and had four sons and four daughters. EZRA, the second son, lives in Westminster, Vt.

XI. RHODA STODDARD, married Moses Webster, and had two sons, CHARLES and SIMEON ALTON, both now living at Bethel, Vt., and two daughters.

Children of John Stoddard, No. III.

1. REUBEN STODDARD, born April 10, 1788; died April 1, 1872, at Gouverneur, N. Y., where he resided 28 years. He married, Oct. 15, 1817, Abigail Foster, and had one son and one daughter, both resident at Gouverneur, N. Y.
2. LYDIA STODDARD, died unmarried.

3. ABIEL STODDARD, supposed to be living at Saratoga, N. Y.
4. SYLVESTER S. STODDARD, married, and now living at Westminster, Vt.
5. ABIGAIL STODDARD, now living in Townsend, Vt.
6. EZRA STODDARD.
7. ABISHAI STODDARD, married, and now living in Townsend, Vt., and has had large experience in public life.

The following is of DAVID STODDARD, of Chesterfield, N. H., and probably the so-called nephew of Joshua, at head of the preceding. He was an officer in the Revolutionary Army, and in the battle at Bennington, and is said to have died on his way home from the army. The date is not yet in my reach. David had nine children, order of birth not certain; viz.: 1. SAMUEL; 2. THOMAS; 3. DAVID; 4. ELEAZUR; 5. LEMUEL; 6. ASA; 7. JOSEPH; 8. JEMIMA; 9. ABIGAIL. One of these daughters is said to marry a man named Bemis. Only a partial account of these children can be given.

Turner's History of Phelps and Gorham Purchase says:

In 1801, Richard M. Stoddard resided in Canandaigua, N. Y. He was a surveyor and employed by the Holland Company. About this time he was employed by Mr. Elliott to survey the Phelps and Gorham Purchase. After the survey he became the local agent for its sale and settlement. He married the sister of Dudley Saltonstall, of Canandaigua. Her name was perhaps Frances, born 1769; possibly, Catharine or Martha. Stoddard and Saltonstall together purchased 500 acres of the tract which constitutes Leroy village. Mr. Saltonstall soon sold his interest to Ezra Platt, also of Canandaigua, who was one of the early judges of Ontario. Stoddard and Platt became the pioneers of Leroy and all of the Triangle. Before the close of 1801, they had built a log house on the bank of Allan's Creek, opened a land office, and were erecting mills at what was then called "Buttermilk Falls." Mr. Stoddard was Sheriff of Genesee Co. soon after its organization, in all early years a prominent and useful citizen. He died in 1810. A son, Thos. B. The progenitor of this family was from Scotland, and there is an unbroken record from this ancestor down to Major Benjamin Stoddert, of Maryland, an officer in the Revolutionary Army, and also honored by his rank in the Cabinet, as first Secretary of the Navy. He married Miss Lowndes, of Virginia, and had several children. One of the granddaughters married a Brown, and Major Campbell Brown, of Spring Hill, Tenn., is her son. Her second husband was the late Genl. Richard Stoddert Ewell, who died in Spring Hill, Tenn., Jan., 1872. His wife died two days before him. He was also a grandson of Benjamin Stoddert, and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Stoddert Ewell, who has this family record, is now a resident of Georgetown, District of Columbia.
